

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Installing a network component or service on a computer includes automatically loading the network component or service on the computer in response to a process-initiating event and automatically binding existing network adapters to the network component or service.

10
Digitized by srujanika@gmail.com

30030940.doc